

Chili cookoff

time is upon us. Do you have what it takes to make the best bowl of chili in Warren County? Let's find out! The recipe is simple.....take one cook, all the ingredients needed, a big pot to hold the required one gallon* of prepared chili, and don't forget a big spoon or ladle. This is not your ordinary cookoff. You are allowed to cook your chili at home and bring it to the Masonic Building (corner of Main and W. Gibson) on FIRST SATURDAY, January 5th between 10:30 and 11:15 AM. If you want to plug in a crock pot, please bring an extension cord. If you are just bringing your entry in a hot pot, please bring a hot pad to put under it. We ask that you NOT put your name on anything you bring in because the judges are not supposed to know whose is whose. That would not be fair. But wait! There's more....soups and stews also qualify. The same rules apply for soups and stews that apply for chili....refer to recipe above.
 *Each competitor must bring at least one gallon because the entries will be sold around noon, and the proceeds will be going to Relay for Life in Warren County.

Below is an entry form that you may fill out and mail to Nancy Thompson, 2318 Mesena Road, Warrenton, GA 30828-3024 or you may email her the required information at NanCThomp2@aol.com. There is NO entry fee, but donations are appreciated. The deadline for your entry form is December 29th at noon.

Not a cook? But you love to eat good chili, soup and/or stew???? Well, beginning around noon at the Masonic Building on First Saturday, January 5th, you will be able to dive into a bowl! Adult tickets are $5, and children 10 and under are $3. This includes cornbread and/or crackers. There will also be a bake sale in the Masonic Building.

All proceeds go to Relay for Life in Warren County.
